

Rules and submissions to the 5th edition of the Luis Toharia Grants for Young Researchers in Labor Economics

In 2022 there will be 4 grants for young researchers in labor economics participating in the XV Jornadas de Economía Laboral. These grants consist on 250€ plus the exemption of the conference registration fee.

Eligibility:

Applicants must take part in the XV Jornadas de Economía Laboral and be either pursuing a PhD or be recent PhD graduates (defended her PhD no longer than two years ago). Applicants do not need to be members of the AEET.

Criteria:

The AEET executive board will appoint a Grant Committee which will evaluate the applications before June 17th, 2022, according to the following criteria:

- Relevance of the topic of the paper presented by the candidate in the XV JEL in the field of labour economics.
- Methodological and scientific quality of the paper.
- Priority will be given to youths who are pursuing their PhD.
- Priority will also be given to those who have not previously benefitted from a Luis Toharia Grant.

The Grant Committee may leave the grants void. The decisions taken by the Grant Committee are not subject to appeal.

Documentation:

Applicants must fill in the on-line form located at the AEET's webpage (<http://aeet.eu/en/the-luis-toharia-grant>) before May 16th, 2022, and will have to upload the following documents:
